PASSING AWAY OF THE MAN WHO GAVE AWAY $350,000.000

COMMITTEE REPORTS DRY ENFORCEMENT

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The senate judiciary committee began consideration of the prohibition enforcement bill which the house passed in June and from which the senate committee eliminated several drastic provisions and modified others. The committee has not changed the definition of beverages containing one-half of 1 per cent or more of alcohol as intoxicating. The revised measure will not interfere with the storage or personal use of liquor in homes. It also would permit the home manufacture of light wines and cider for personal consumption.

The house bill provision making it unlawful to be intoxicated or drink liquor in public conveyances was eliminated. The house provision declaring that possession next to liquor of liquor not authorized by law would be prima facie evidence that it was being kept for sale is retained. A provision was added requiring defendants to prove such evidence nonintoxicating. More rigorous provisions regarding transactions in wine for sacramental purposes were added.

The subcommittee revision permits the following exemptions provided by the house: Denatured alcohol, medicinal preparations, patent medicines, flavoring preparations, flavoring extracts, vinegars, fruit juices. The subcommittee struck out the clause that such articles should be "nonpotable" and prescribed merely that they be "not for beverage purposes."

KEEPING RUMANS AT BUDAPEST

By Associated Press
PARIS, Aug. 11.—It became known today that the peace conference is changing entirely its attitude toward the Rumanian army at Budapest. It was learned that the conference is not disposed to ask the Rumanian army to leave Budapest immediately despite the fact that the supreme international council asked the Rumanians not to enter.

While the supreme council is indignant over Rumanian seizures of supplies to Hungary preparatory to shipping the into Rumania, many delegates to the conference believe it is still necessary for the Rumanians to remain at Budapest to steady the situation, at least temporarily. The council still is without a direct reply to the ultimatum which it sent to the Rumanian government last week.

POOLED STOCK NOT ATTACHED

Judge Averill has denied the request to file suit in the matter of the estate of Richard Hennessy, deceased. In reviewing the case the court said:

On August 2, 1919 a hearing was held upon a petition and order to show cause why the Gold Mine Mining Company, the purpose of which was to uncover the estate of Richard Hennessy, deceased, should be allowed to pool the stock of that company claimed to be part of the estate of Richard Hennessy.

The court decided that the stock of the Gold Mine Mining Company was not attached for work performed but is to be taken from the holdings of the company and that the company will deliver upon the expiration of the pool, not later than January 1, 1920, and as much sooner as the resources of the company shall permit.

At the same time the court ordered to order that the delivery of the stock to the administrator. A request was then made that the court order the administrator to deliver the stock to the administrator.

The court then ordered that the administrator to deliver the stock to the administrator. The court then ordered that the administrator to deliver the stock to the administrator.

SHIPBUILDERS ARE ALARMED

By Associated Press
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—Continuation of present transcontinental freight rates on steel will not only make operation of Pacific coast shipyards impossible, but cut down the income of transcontinental carriers, the Pacific Coast Shipbuilders' Trade Association said in a direct appeal to the national railroad administration. The association said shipyards of the coast had the advantage of a combined rail and ocean route from the Atlantic coast of $1.20 per hundredweight, as against $1.37 1/2 to $1.25 to Pacific coast plants.

JULIAN VISITS HUMBOLDT MINE

A. E. Julian, consulting engineer of the Wingfield mining interests, and I. C. Old, representing San Francisco mining men and capitalists, were taken out to the Humboldt district this week to look over some properties on which H. H. Hunter has an option. They spent two days sampling ore principally on the Shepherd mine and investigating adjoining properties and returned to Reno Wednesday night.

Mr. Hunter has an option on a lease on the Shepherd mine that is now being worked by Jones and Davis. They have two carloads of ore broken out in the bottom of the shaft that shows a great deal of high grade ore. It was with the idea of purchasing this lease and some adjoining property that Julian and Mr. Old visited the camp.

STRIKERS STEAL WHOLE WORKS

By Associated Press
FLORENCE, Italy, July 14.—That the "Camera del Lavoro" as the management of the recent Italian strikes styles itself is no respecter of the property of other nations was emphasized when the canteen of the American Y. M. C. A. serving almost exclusively the enlisted men of the Italian army, was commandeered and ransacked. The canteen was under the direction of Harry H. Holbert of Tucson, Ariz., who told the Associated Press correspondent:

"I am sure that it was not the soldiers who did the work. The soldiers were extremely grateful to us for the work we have been doing. We had been providing them with many of the things they needed at greatly reduced prices. The delegates of the 'Camera del Lavoro' vainly tried to influence the soldiers, themselves to destroy the place."

By Associated Press
LENOX, Mass., Aug. 11.—Andrew Carnegie, steel magnate and philanthropist, died today at his summer home, Shadow Brook, after an illness of three days. Bronchial pneumonia developed so suddenly that his daughter, Mrs. Roswell Miller, was unable to reach his bedside before he died. His wife and private secretary were present. He spent most of the summer at Lenox and became ill Friday.

Although Carnegie was in his 84th year he had been an invalid since 1917 when he suffered from an attack of the grippe. Since his previous serious illness he had been under the care of two nurses. Long identified with the international peace movement, he is said to have been more severely affected by the world war than most men. His death, apparently, had little effect on the stock market. Common stock of the United States Steel Corporation of which the Carnegie companies formed an important part, lagged behind the general list. It was declared in well informed quarters that Carnegie's holdings in the steel corporation was limited to mortgage bonds.

Andrew Carnegie began a race against time when, in 1901, at the age of sixty-five, he resolved to give away his enormous fortune. He held it "discreetly" for a man to keep on gathering little millions. In the comparatively few years which the actuary could allow him, he would disburse himself of practically all he had. No man had ever launched a philanthropic campaign of such dimensions.

He was then a fortune of just about a quarter billion dollars, the largest ever acquired by a foreign born American, second only to the John D. Rockefeller wealth as the largest individual accumulation in the United States, and built as it was, of five per cent steel bonds. It would, without so much as turning over one's hand, have approached half a billion by the time Carnegie could call himself an octogenarian on November 25, 1919.

To give this stupendous sum away, in about half the time he had taken to gather it, was a purpose Carnegie had fairly well fulfilled when death overtook him today. He had distributed about $200,000,000. It was giving money away at the rate of $20,000,000 a year, or more than $50,000 a day.

He declared, when he gave up gathering wealth and announced an era of distribution that he expected to find it more difficult to give his millions away than it had been to acquire them. "How would you give $300,000,000 away?" became such a popular query that an English advertiser who employed it received no less than 45,000 suggestions as to how Carnegie could rid himself of his wealth. Twelve thousand answered the problem in part by asking for some of the money for themselves.

The answers which Carnegie himself gave and backed up with his millions have made him the most original if not the greatest of philanthropists.

Before he sailed for Scotland in 1901 he left letters announcing gifts of $9,000,000. His first big gift was the setting aside of $4,000,000 to supply pensions and relief for the injured and aged employees of his steel plants. He added an extra million for the support of libraries for his workmen. On libraries alone he spent up

MUST PAY $800 TO CLIENT FOR ERROR IN NAME

A decision that will be of interest to everybody handling stocks was rendered this morning by Judge Mark R. Averill in the case of Rado Laskich vs. Francis C. Moore in which he awards plaintiff judgment for $800 and his costs.

The suit is the outgrowth of the similarity of names of two mining companies, Laskich on April 16th, turned over to Thomas Gibbons, an employee of Moore, 200 shares of Hashbrock Divide stock, calling attention at the same time to the quotation on the board which read 60 cents for "Hashbrock." The quotation was that of Tonopah Hashbrock Moore, in executing this order sold 2000 Hashbrock at 65 cents and could not make delivery only through buying in at 84 cents, thereby losing over $800. The evidence showed that the stock was actually turned over to Gibbons with the order to sell at 60 cents and therefore there was no attempt to deceive especially as the order was not placed until the following day, allowing plenty of time for examination of the certificate or discovery that the stock was Hashbrock Divide and not Tonopah Hashbrock which is commonly carried in the quotations under the name of "Hashbrock." Hashbrock Divide was selling at 40 to 44 cents when Laskich offered his for sale and never reached 60 cents. Moore offered to compromise and in the meantime hold the Hashbrock Divide stock to compensate him for his loss. In summing up the case Judge Averill stated: "Hashbrock Divide stock was selling at figures from 40 to 44 about the time of the transaction and later reached 55 cents, though this quotation was probably not a bid price. It actually sold on April 17 at 41 cents. Using the lowest figure of the quotations given above, the damages awarded the plaintiff are set at $800."
